

NEWBORN SESSIONS

workflow

Newborn sessions are held at my studio in Summerville at 4552 Ladson Road. All sessions are typically held first thing in the morning.

When you arrive for your session we will plan out the setups you want to do. It helps to have looked at the website and Facebook fan page for some ideas in advance. No clothing will be used so please leave those items at home. All props are provided. Some clients bring in special request props or hats. If you have a special blanket or hat that someone has made for the baby you are welcome to bring that in and I can try and incorporate that in your setup choices providing items brought in are safe to use on newborns.

This session is not set up for additional family members other than some parent photos. Please arrange for any younger siblings to stay at home as the newborn session can be 2-3 hours long.

Your first setup choice will be to pick two blanket color choices for the bean bag poses I will do first.

Next, you have the option to take photos with your child. If you choose to do this, please wear black from the waste up. I take very simple clean black and white images with the baby close to you. These images are taken after the bean bag images.

Then we will setup three different bucket type images in order of your preference. You will have a chance to go thru all of the hats available and I can offer help with suggestions on what might work best for each.
